

TRAVELS OF A STAR

Blanka Ježková
Kateřina Kofroňová

TRAVELS OF A STAR

Blanka Ježková / Kateřina Kofroňová

This story is dedicated to Stars, to the Planet Earth
and to all children of Earth, little ones and big ones –
to all the real people who protect life
and heal the world.

Contents

Foreword.....	6
Little Star.....	8
Little Boy.....	14
White Dwarf	18
Minor Planets.....	24
Comet.....	30
Lady Planet.....	34
Brother Sun.....	40
Blue Planet	44
Life on Earth	50
Little Girl	54
Lady Birch tree.....	64
Knowledge.....	78
Earth	80
Nature	84
Plants	90
Animals.....	94
People.....	98
Happiness and the heart.....	102
Meaning of Stars	108
Afterword	120
Wish	124

Foreword

Dear children, have you ever observed the night sky full of stars? Somewhere far away from the city, outside in Nature?

The night sky undisturbed by city lights is studded with millions of stars. While gazing at them, probably everyone is amazed by their beauty and probably everyone starts to have questions in their minds.

Who are the stars? What lies beyond them?
What is their meaning?

At this moment the stars start to shine even more brightly as if they merged into one blaze. It looks as if they wished to let us know something, as if they wanted to reveal a secret to us, as if they wanted to tell us – their story.

Little Star

Once upon a time there was a little Star whose light was bright, she didn't think but at one point started not to feel alright.

First two thoughts came into her light,
which was her whole living space,
and they cast a little shadow right upon her little face.

The first two thoughts were two questions
where they came from we don't know, what this would cause the little Star,
we will soon see clearly, though.

"Who am I? And why am I here?"

The little Star got a fright,
she knew nothing about herself,
and she lost some of her light.

"Who am I? And why am I here?

Am I really all there is?"

She knew nothing, she got quite sad.

It was like the strangest quiz.

Who am I and why am I here?

If only I knew something!

Help me please or I'll lose my light,
and that would end everything."

There was silence everlasting,
even sadder was her face,
the more she knew she knew nothing,
the more faded her own blaze.

"I must go and find out something!"

Out of protest and despair, the little Star then decided to take a flight anywhere.

She then tried to move her body,
her first attempt was not right,
she kept trying without ceasing till it started – her space flight!

Little Boy

One little boy on this Planet was fond of the little Star, every night he waited for her,
he talked to her from afar.

Every night he watched how her light shone brightly throughout the sky, she was his friend, he wouldn't sleep
without seeing his dear star.

One night she was no longer there,
"Where are you? Come up, my friend!"
She did not. And from that moment joy in his heart seemed to end.

From that time on this small fellow was like a star with no light,
he did not play, was not happy,
his heart was as dark as night.

White Dwarf

In the meantime the little Star was flying at a fast pace, she decided to question all beings in this awesome space.

She flew right over nebulae,
other stars hailed their new friend,
so many shapes, tones and colours!
she shone brightly with no end.

Travels of a Star

Text © Blanka Ježková

Illustrations © Kateřina Kofroňová

Published by: Blanka Ježková

Graphics: Kateřina Kofroňová

Language editing: Pearl Harris, Ailsa Randall

Ebook formats: Emma Vik

About the book: www.travelssofar.com

2025 Brno,

the Czech Republic

ISBN: 978-80-908009-4-6 (PDF)

ISBN: 978-80-908009-5-3 (MOBI)

ISBN: 978-80-908009-6-0 (EPUB)